How do students receive Title 1 support?

- All students are screened in the fall using a variety of assessment tools
- Assessment data is analyzed to identify students that are most at-risk
- Students are provided 30-40 minutes of supplemental reading instruction in addition to general academic programming
- Students convene in small groups with a Title teacher that provides evidence-based reading intervention 3 to 5 times per week

Evidence-based programs provided in Title I

- Heggerty Phonemic Awareness
 - Daily, focused lessons on phonemic and phonological awareness
- Foundations
 - A multi-sensory, structured language program that explicitly and systematically teaches reading foundational skills emphasizing:
 - Phonemic Awareness • Phonics/Word study • High frequency word study • Vocabulary • Handwriting • Spelling • Fluency
- Leveled Literacy Intervention
 - Intensive, small-group, supplementary literacy intervention for students who find reading and writing difficult.

How do I know if my child is making progress in Title 1?

- Progress Reports
- MAP Parent Reports
- Parent/Teacher Conferences
- Questions? Contact your child's Title I teacher directly

How do I know if my child is exiting Title I services?

- Progress data is reviewed regularly throughout the year to track growth. If your child makes significant growth in their reading skills, they may be exited from the program. Parents will be notified of this change by your child's Title I teacher.

How can I support my child at home?

- Reading together often
- Ask them questions to determine that they understand what has been read
- Volunteer at your child's school
- Talk with your child about their school day
- Support your child academically when they are assigned homework or other at-home activities
